

Biography Dora Keselman

Dora Keselman, born in Argentina, graduated in psychology.

Daughter of Holocaust survivor Alek Keselman who was originally from Radomsko in Poland.

I live in Argentina in Buenos Aires.

Thanks to my cousin Ruchele Kesselman, I was on June 2nd 2014 at the inauguration of the First Jewish Open Air Museum in Europe, in Radomsko, where our fathers and ancestors were born.

I also had the chance to visit Warsaw, Łódź and Krakow

"I am honored and proud to know that I am committed to this project. As a daughter of survivor of the Holocaust, this human barbarism, this sinister genocide, symbol of the greatest atrocity, the greatest collective and calculated human destruction, our mission is that Man, through his primordial instinct for Life, and as the transcendental legacy of our fathers, survivors of horror, humiliation, alienation and materialization of Evil, to transmit the Good to the whole world.

The Jewish Open Air Museum in Radomsko is a sensitive and firm commitment to the memory of the Jews in Poland, to affirm and feel the instinct of life, the meaning of life and human values.

With all my heart with Rachel Lea Kesselman and "Yiddele' Memory", I am proud of her work and her commitment to a past that will never forget, moving forward all together for an active memory and for peace. Shalom "
